Hello 2022!

We are ready for the new year! This school year has already flew by but I think the best is yet to come! We are so excited to bring you new IntegratED Workshops for the new year!

Learning Recovery

The last two years has been nothing short of a challenge for educators and students. I (Megan) presented on a panel about this topic in Atlanta. Look for our featured blog/vlog post this month about our thoughts about learning recovery. This topic will provide you with ideas to apply to you and your classroom.

Are you Listening?

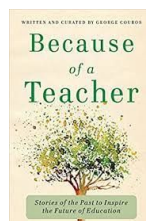

We took a small break from our podcasts this last month but WE ARE BACK! Our goal is to bring you a new podcast biweekly. What are somethings you would like us to talk about? We are two teachers here and ready to make a disturbance with you in education!

Because of a Teacher

This book was featured in a past newsletter but right now it's just what we needed to start the new year.
